The troll is frightened. He runs away from the lion. He gets in a boat and sails on the river to the sea. The magic fish follows him. The injured troll arrives at a small island. There is a small beach and there is a palm tree and a tall tower on the island. The troll sees a kind princess.

The princess helps the troll. She cleans his wound.

The troll says, « How can I help you? »

The princess says, « A strong man put me on the island. I live in the tall tower. The strong man locks me in the tower at night. I am sad. »

The troll says, « I can help you. »

The magic fish does not trust the troll. He does not want the troll to help the princess. The fish wants his friends the camel and the bird to help the princess.

The magic fish talks to the bird. « Please tell the princess not to trust the troll. He is dangerous. »

At night the fish magically opens the tower's door. The princess escapes. She sits on the camel's back. They go to the troll's boat. The bird sits in the boat with the princess. The fish swims in front of the boat and magically makes it go to the bridge next to the field where the goats and donkeys eat grass.
